Prerequisites [Curricular Units that must precede and specific entry competences]	Not applicable
Learning outcomes [Description of the overall and specific objectives] [Knowledge, skills and competences to be developed by students]	To understand and analyze legal documents regulating pre-school education, as well as other reference texts on language development in pre-school ages. To know the specificities of oral and written language development in childhood. To search and construct knowledge, in a reflexive and well-founded way, in the scope of the teaching of the mother tongue. To draw up activities and didactic units planning, mobilizing theoretical and practical knowledge based on the scientific-pedagogical and prospective learning of a pedagogical attitude that promotes the development of the skills involved in the use of the mother tongue. It is intended that students acquire research and information processing skills and critical and reflective analysis of the documentation provided. It is also intended that they consolidate scientific-pedagogical competences acquired during the degree course in Basic Education and mobilize this knowledge by designing integrative didactic sequences that can be operationalized in the context of nursery and / or pre-school education.
Syllabus	1. Portuguese Didactics and Pre-School Education: curricular models and participation's pedagogies 2. The domain of oral language in pre-school education - the development of verbal communication - the role of the adult and, in particular, of the educator: dual or collective interaction; diversity of communication situations - from intuitive knowledge to the development of linguistic consciousness - the playfulness of language 3.The discovery of writing - emerging literacy - children's conceptions about written code: functionality, figurative and conceptual aspects - involvement with reading: motivation and habits - literature for children and ways of reading 4.
